Commissions

Obligation Free Policy

Elena Parashko Gallery has an obligation free policy in the commissioning of custom designed artwork. This is an effective no risk policy giving the client a unique opportunity to participate in the creation of an original work of art.

Through a consultation process, the specific requirements of the client are ascertained. Factors such as subject matter, mood, colour, size, purpose, painting medium and surface, framing, price range etc will be taken into consideration.

If reference material such as a photo is not supplied by the client, then a preliminary sketch or small sample painting of the proposed artwork will be created giving the client an opportunity for further comment and refinement of the image. A quote will also be issued. If accepted, the artwork will then be completed within the negotiated time frame. Payment is due when the artwork is completed.

After a quote has been accepted, sample sketch approved and painting begun, if there are any further requests for changes or additions to the artwork, then an additional fee may be charged to cover the cost of extra materials and labour.

Upon viewing of the finished piece, if the result does not match the vision of the client, or the client is not completely satisfied for any reason, then there is no obligation to purchase the work. It will then be offered for sale on the Elena Parashko Gallery website or submitted for sale at other galleries. The artist will retain full copyright of the work.
